Committee was wanting to take the banking sector. The unions, on their part, assured their full commitment towards better customer service, efficiency and accountability to improve the operations of the banking system.

In his concluding remarks, the Governor thanked the unions for their views and assured them that their views would be taken into account while finalising the Reserve Bank's views on the recommendations of the Verma Committee. He also urged the Unions to take an integrated view of all the recommendations made by the Committee in various aspects of strengthening the weak banks. A balanced package with co-operation of all concerned had to be worked out in the long term interest of these banks.
